

j5 IndustraForm® Templates

Configuration Time and Project Complexity Benefits

Traditionally, industrial operations management software has been extremely difficult to configure. This wastes time, adds financial costs and encourages unnecessary change requests. For example, creating mobile extensions of applications typically requires advanced coding skills and vendor engagement.

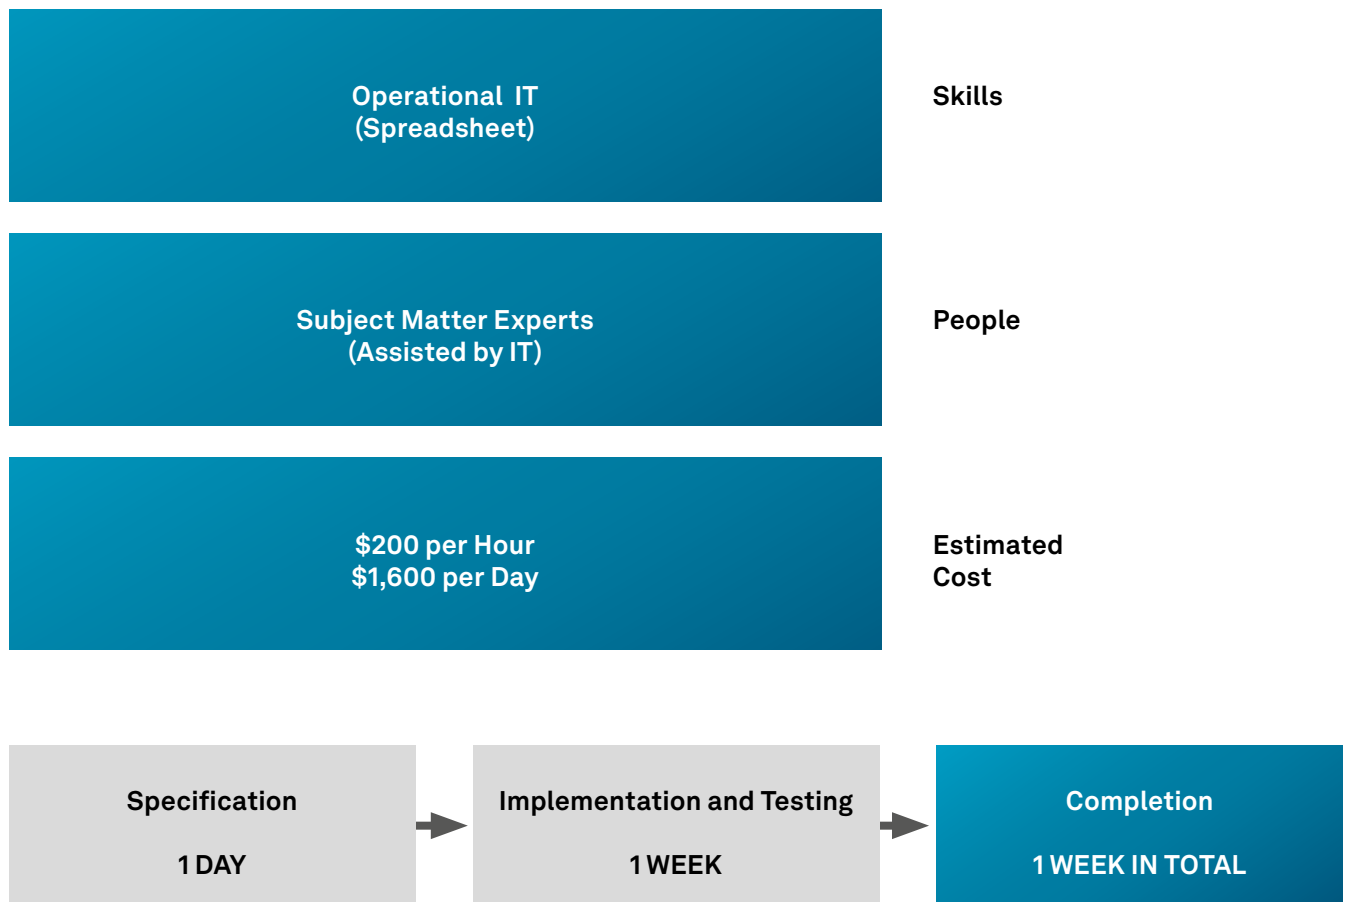

j5 IndustraForm Templates are configured in a spreadsheet-like environment, enabling personnel to rapidly design them in a familiar and intuitive way. Desktop and mobile applications are now in sync, and there are no advanced source code programming skills required.
